USPA NEWS - Commitment to integrity and trustworthiness at the heart of YSRCP's philosophy

In a powerful address at the YSR Congress Party (YSRCP) central office in Tadepalli on Wednesday, party supremo and former Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy reinforced the importance of values and credibility in politics. The gathering focused on the upcoming MLC elections and the party's unwavering commitment to its core principles.

Emphasis on integrity and values

Jagan highlighted that the YSRCP's dedication to integrity and trustworthiness remains steadfast. He underscored that all public representatives of the party are aligned with this philosophy. He expressed that politics driven by values is essential for true progress and respect. He reflected on his own journey, emphasizing that his political career has always been grounded in these principles, even during challenging times.

Manifesto as a testament to commitment

Jagan noted a significant shift in how the party approaches its manifesto. He praised the party's commitment to transforming the manifesto from a mere document into a guiding principle, likening it to a sacred text that guides their actions. This commitment is seen as a clear demonstration of YSRCP's dedication to fulfilling promises made to the electorate.

Support for Botsa Satyanarayana

As part of the party's strategy for the MLC elections, YSRCP has selected Botsa Satyanarayana as their candidate for Ummadi Visakha local bodies. Jagan detailed that this choice was made after consultation with public representatives and party members, who unanimously supported Satyanarayana. His profile and endurance were highlighted as essential qualities for facing the current political challenges and standing strong against adversaries.

Call for unity and support

Jagan urged party members to continue embodying the values and credibility that define YSRCP. He called for united support for Botsa Satyanarayana, emphasizing that even in opposition, the party remains focused on maintaining its principles. The party's ability to stand firm and deliver on promises is presented as a mark of their dedication to the people.

Continued commitment

Jagan expressed his gratitude for the support of the Manyam region and reaffirmed the importance of collective effort as they move forward. He emphasized that the party's struggle and achievements over the next five years will be grounded in the same values and trustworthiness that have guided them thus far.

Through this address, YSRCP reaffirms its commitment to values and credibility as the cornerstone of its political philosophy, promising steadfast dedication to integrity and transparency in all its endeavors.
